

We need stronger rules to limit ownership, not weaker rules that reduce access to different points of view. This is critical to democracy.